“Non-Prototypical Identities of Young MSM: typology & social context” This pilot project combined traditional and internet ethnographic approaches to better characterize the self-understandings and social context of young adult (18-30 years old) men who have sex with men, who do not identify as “gay,” with an aim to decreasing barriers to sexual health care and informing HIV risk-reduction interventions.

HIV Prevention Trials Network 073: Pre Exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP) Uptake and Adherence among Black Men who have Sex with Men (BMSM)

The goal of this project is to assess the uptake, acceptability, safety, and feasibility of PrEP for Black men who have sex with men (BMSM) utilizing client-centered care coordination (C4) models. This is an open-label demonstration study.

Role: Study Physician

Randomized Trial of Ibudilast for Methamphetamine Dependence

Phase 2, randomized trial to determine whether a novel PDE4-inhibitor anti-inflammatory agent, ibudilast, reduces methamphetamine (MA) use more than placebo among MA-dependent participants and to determine whether ibudilast results in longer treatment retention than placebo among MA-dependent participants.

MSM and Substances Cohort at UCLA Linking Infections Noting Effects (also known as “MASCULINE” or “mStudy”)

This is a cohort study of minority men who have sex with men (MMSM) who actively use substances and engage in HIV transmission risk behaviors. This will facilitate studies on interactions between substance use and HIV progression and/or transmission. This cohort of MMSM will characterize: (i) effects substance use on risk behaviors, and network dynamics in exposed and infected MMSM on acquisition of HIV and other sexually transmitted infections (STIs: gonorrhea, Chlamydia, syphilis, Hepatitis C (HCV)); and (ii) the extent to which substance use in MMSM facilitates behaviors that transmit HIV compared to non-drug using MMSM.

ETHNOGRAPHIC FIELD RESEARCH

Prague, Czech Republic. Field research for PhD dissertation: Social Change, Mental Health, and the Evolution of Gay Male Identities: a clinical ethnography of post-communist Prague. Examined processes of sexual identity formation and maintenance, romantic relationships, and sexual behavior among gay and bisexual Czech men. Also looked at concerns of depression and problematic alcohol use in this partially stigmatized sexual minority population. 8/1999-11/2002.

Prague, Czech Republic. Postdoctoral fieldwork: "Survey of Czech Male Sexuality." Followed up on dissertation research. Also conducted interviews with older Czech gay and bisexual men (aged 50-72) and administered survey to men attending gay bars (n=133). Summer 2006.

Prague, Czech Republic. Postdoctoral fieldwork: "Czech Sexual Health." Followed up on prior ethnographic research, including documenting first Prague Gay Pride festival. Administered survey to young adults in both gay and non-gay venues in central Prague (n=406), looking at sexual behavior including sexual networks, and assessing possible behavioral change in response to increasing incidence of HIV. Summer 2011.

Los Angeles, CA. "Non-Prototypical Young Men who have Sex with Men." Internet and traditional ethnography looking at young adult MSM who do not identify as gay, including self-representations, degree of socialization into gay or non-gay MSM social networks and subcultures, with relevance to HIV risk behaviors. 2011-present.
