

Title Updated

UCLA Family Medicine Grand Rounds

How Do Family Medicine & Primary Care Influence Person & Population Health?

KURT C. STANGE, MD, PHD

Kurt C. Stange, MD, PhD is a family and public health physician. He has many fond connections with folks in the UCLA Department of Family Medicine. His 2½ year old grandson lives in L.A. with Kurt's son, Jonathan, a psychology professor at USC, and daughter-in-law Lindsey Matt, a clinical psychologist. His wife Anne Sierk and daughter and son-in-law live in Cleveland.

At Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Kurt is a member of the Center for Community Health Integration (CHI Center), which conducts collaborative Research & Development for Community Health and Integrated, Personalized Care. He is a Distinguished University Professor, and is the Dorothy Jones Weatherhead Professor of Medicine, and Professor of Family Medicine & Community Health, Population & Quantitative Health Sciences, Oncology and Sociology. He is an American Cancer Society Clinical Research Professor, and served as founding editor for the Annals of Family Medicine. With Rebecca Etz, PhD, he serves as Co-Director for the Larry A. Green Center for Advancing Primary Health Care for the Public Good.

He is active in multimethod, participatory research and development that aims to understand and improve the generalist function, primary health care, health equity, and community and population health. He is a member of the National Academy of Medicine.

Friday,
May 24
2024

12:00 -1:00 pm
(PST)

Scan QR code to register:

For more information, contact:
Laura Sheehan at
LSheehan@mednet.ucla.edu or Denise Acelar at
DAcelar@mednet.ucla.edu

UCLA Health | Department of
Family Medicine